"W O R O N I"

PRE-EXAMINATION ISSUE, OCTOBER 14TH 1952

GOOD LUCK

GOOD LUCK to all for the Exams. They come around quickly, don't they? We guess that all heads will be down for the next month - and then - well, it would be good to go to the Library and just take out a book - NOT on the reading list - and sit down, with plenty of time to read it.

The S.R.C. wishes all students success with their Exams, and would like to take this opportunity of thanking students for their help and co-operation throughout the year.

END-OF-YEAR REVEL

Last year, the S.R.C. held a Woolshed Dance at Gininderra. All agree that it was a good show - lots of variety, lots of fun.

This year - on FRIDAY, 5TH DECEMBER - the Students are holding a Cabaret Dance - on the day Exams end: Happy thought!!

The Hut will be decorated with the College Colours. There will be lots of entertainment, variety and a grand supper. Keep the date in mind - FRIDAY, 5TH DECEMBER.

The Committee is hard at work on ideas for Floor Shows, Novelties, etc., but is keeping some of these up their sleeves for the time being. Watch the Notice Board at the entrance to the Exam Room for further details of the END-OF-YEAR REVEL.

"PROMETHEUS"

It had been anticipated that this year's edition of "PROMETHEUS" would have been on sale by now, but printing difficulties and lack of contributions have made it necessary to postpone publication until Commem. week next year.

We want this to be a worth-while issue, so please let the Editor, C/- S.R.C., have your contribution as soon as possible. Articles, short stories, poems, sketches, cartoons, are still urgently needed.

W.S.R. APPEAL

The World Student Relief Appeal Committee will be conducting its annual appeal this Thursday and Friday - 16th and 17th October. This Appeal warrants your support. Last year £40 was raised - a very fine effort. Help to fill the College's "quota" again this year.

Your donation may be left with Mr. David Webster, of the College staff, or in one of the collection boxes which will be placed at the head of the stairs in the Civic Building and at the entrance to the Census Building between 5p.m. and 7p.m. next Thursday and Friday, October 16th and 17th.

COUNCIL CHANGES

We recently received the resignation of Mr. Lindsay Curtis from the position of Vice-President of the Council. At the last Council Meeting, Mr. Bob Robertson, who was previously a Committee member, was unanimously elected to fill this vacancy. Mr. Hector Lowe has been co-opted to the Committee to replace Mr. Robertson.

THE FREEDOM WE SHOULD CHERISH

"The main reason I left Europe a few years ago was that I wasn't admitted to a certain University there. I applied for admission to the Faculty of Law, and was invited by the communist-controlled Students Committee to appear in their office. On arrival, I was interrogated for two hours, starting with questions about my father's and grandfather's profession, and going on with a most private question; not forgetting to ask me why I wasn't a member of the Party. That wasn't all. A month later I was called for a written examination, and thinking this might be on a different level, I looked over some of my old history and literature books. The nearest question to literature was a question about the leading article in the previous Sunday's Party paper. But enough of that. That is past history. The reason I write is because I want to thank the University College of Canberra for helping me. Three months after my arrival in Australia, coming almost two terms late, I was admitted to the Faculty of Law, my European matriculation was acknowledge, and every assistance given to enable me to overcome the first difficulties of lectures.

You probably think that such treatment is quite natural, but let me assure you that this is Freedom which I, as a New Australian, respect and appreciate".

"New Australian"

 "LA RONDE"

But let there be no expectation that that statement is to be backed up by a plethora of adjectives like 'disgusting' and 'nauseating', and 'No wonder the younger generation is not all it should be', and signed by Mother of Eight.

It is quite permissible for people to pass moral judgment on artistic productions. There can be no quarrel with Mother of Eight's right to reject as immoral a picture, book, play or film. No work of art can be considered invulnerable to moral criticism. What she may and should be attacked upon is the view of life upon which her moral values are based, and also- but this is incidental to my main purpose - her right to prevent other people from being in the same position to assess the moral worth of an artistic production as herself, and this opens up the question of censorship. To revert to the former statement, it is, I say, superficial to chide the Victorians for behaving as if women had no legs. Any attack on their moral code must be by way of their view of life which did not recognise overtly the fact that women do have those handy pedestrian contrivances.

To repeat, "La Ronde" is an immoral picture. Because the philosophy of life from which it stems is not based on reality. Everyone who shares my view of reality will share my apprehension about the moral worth of "La Ronde".

Please note that the most extreme caricature may still retain the essential link with reality that marks it as a moral production. The complete formulation of my argument requires some discussion of just what my philosophy of life is, and there is the stumbling block, since I am far from clear about it, though I can usually decide - perhaps only after much cogitation - that a film does not square with my conception of reality and is, consequently, immoral.

All I can say is that, because "La Ronde" subtracts most elements from the love situation and treat them with a frightening cynicism, which is quite dissociated from reality, it is immoral. That is not to say that the whole of a situation should be presented, and not just isolated elements. The artistic technique requires this fragmentation, but the stamp of reality must be retained if the production is to be moral.

I regret that I am as yet unable to analyse completely the what's-it that constitutes the link with or stamp of reality. Part of the trouble is that it occurs in the most diverse circumstances. Perhaps brief consideration of other films would help make my attitude clear. Most American films are immoral because they are quite devoid of the positive, forward-looking dynamism that is one aspect of reality.

"The Third Man" (which is, like "La Ronde", technically excellent) is as immoral as the French film. Its philosophy of life is summed up in the question which Harry Lime asks Martins in the ferris-wheel: "If you were to be given £20,000 each time one of those little dots (people) down there stopped moving would you refuse?" This utterly empty and negativistic view does not receive a decisive rejoinder, for the victory of Martins and the police is an empty one, since the girl, symbol of the issues at stake, loves Harry to the end.

And, significantly enough, it is Harry who has been resurrected for the Sunday supplements.

JOHN ATKINSON.

STUDENTS' REVEL ON DECEMBER 5TH

You can really relax and have fun when your exam worries are over. And the place to do it is at the Post-Exam dance planned for December 5th. The S.R.C. is already on the job arranging a night to remember. The novelty items include two amazing contrivances called the Pashometer and the "It" machine. The Pashometer is an ingenious animal-magnetism machine recently introduced into this country. Measuring blood circulation by electrical sensitivity the Pashometer is claimed to register accurately those incalculable components of character and temperament commonly known as personality, or animal magnetism (Psychology students please note). The "It" machine, utilising the principles of electro-dynamics, records with unerring truthfulness the nervous reactions of a person in the presence of a member of the opposite sex, thus registering the peculiar quality known as "sex-appeal". The machines are highly educational in character. Watch for more information on the Students' Revel. Tickets will be sold within the near future at 5/- each. In the meantime, best of luck to everyone in the next month.

 Sir,

As an ex-serviceman, a member of the C.M.F. since February, 1949, and a part-time student at the Canberra University College, I offer a few comments on your article in a previous issue of "Woroni" concerning those students who are called up for National Service Training. I feel that the tone of your remarks sadly reflects upon the mental attitude of those students involved and also the Council for seeing fit to pay attention to their complaints. How much better and how much more in keeping with an appreciation of the broader issues involved would have been your article had the question been approached from the viewpoint of "How much does your University work interfere with your obligations to your country under the National Service Act". One further point - it is a sad fact that it requires such a measure as the National Service Act to make the younger students conscious of their obligations. I cannot understand why they, as the future leaders in the community, will not take the lead here also, and volunteer for training without waiting for call up, or at least accepting the generous conditions of the Act regarding University students without complaint. Regarding the proposal to set up a University Company, may I remind you that there is in Canberra a C.M.F. Unit which is not yet up to full strength - or hadn't you heard.

 J. DINGWALL.

THANK YOU to the College Staff and Students for help given the S.R.C.

THE CANBERRA UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

Annual Report

A report of the Council of the Canberra University College on matters arising out of the Ordinance, for the year 1952, made in pursuance of section 11 of the Canberra University College Ordinance of 1929-1940, for presentation to Parliament.

1. THE COUNCIL

The following Council was appointed for the year 1952.

Chairman: Sir Robert Randolph Garran, G.C.M.G., Q.C., M.A., LL.D.

Members: Professor Kenneth Hamilton Bailey, M.A., B.C.L., LL.M.
Herbert Burton, M.A.
Pierce William Edward Curtin, B.A., LL.B., Ph.D.
Charles Studdy Daley, O.B.E., B.A., LL.B.
Bertram Thomas Dickson, B.A., Ph.D.
John Qualtrough Ewens, LL.B.
Lionel Courtenay St. Aubyn Key, B.A.
Roland Wilson, C.B.E., B.Com., D.Phil., Ph.D.
Harold John Wright, B.Ec.

Mr. Wright and Mr Key were appointed on the nomination of the University Association of Canberra. The Principal, Professor Burton, was co-opted under Section 6. (2A.) of the Ordinance.

2. PLANNING OF FUTURE DEVELOPMENT.

In many ways 1952 was a busy and fruitful year. For months the Board of Studies and the Council devoted themselves to careful consideration of the future development of the College. In consultation with the University of Melbourne it was agreed that the College was approaching a state of development which made it desirable that the present form of temporary association with the University should be superseded either by an association of the College with the Australian National University or by the grant to the College of degree conferring powers of its own.

It was recognised that some further development would be necessary before the College was ready for either of these alternatives and at the end of the year the Council submitted to the Minister for the Interior a plan of development which would bring the College at the end of three years to a state in which either autonomous university status or some form of association with the Australian National University would be appropriate.

The requisite development falls under two main headings -

- (a) adequate provision for full-time students; and
- (b) provision for teaching facilities in a wider range of pass and honours courses within the present field of studies.

These developments must go hand in hand; for full time students will not come to the College unless it can provide such teaching, while conversely honours and other advanced courses cannot be given until there is a nucleus of full time students of reasonably high academic quality.

The plan submitted to the Minister therefore provides for the following developments -

Annual Report.

- (a) the expansion of teaching facilities to enable the College to provide honours courses, a fuller range of pass courses, and teaching in special subjects (such as Administration, Commonwealth History, Statistics, Oriental Studies) for which Canberra is specially suited;
- (b) the creation of new chairs in the existing departments of Law, Philosophy and Psychology and in Mathematics, in addition to the seven already established;
- (c) the appointment of some additional staff to strengthen existing departments; and
- (d) the provision of residential accommodation for students.

Reference is made in paragraph 4 of this Report to the necessity of the College having adequate buildings for such development.

3. TEACHING AND RESEARCH.

During 1952 the College continued to provide teaching within the eight departments with a similar range of subject to that offered in 1951. It was in effect a year of marking time and of consolidation. The only additional member of staff to take up duty in 1952 was Mr. L.F.E. Goldie who was appointed to the full-time lectureship in Law. However, it is gratifying to record that the grant-in-aid for the College in the 1952-53 Budget provided for a modest degree of expansion in 1953; this was reinforced by the special provision made by the Commonwealth to establish a School of Oriental Languages.

As a result of these increased resources a modest expansion of staff was made possible, and several appointments were made of additional members of staff to take up duty in 1953.

It was a matter of great regret to everyone connected with the College that Mr. J.F.M. Haydon was forced to retire in April by serious illness. Mr. Haydon had joined the staff in 1930 and in 1933 he and Dr. L.H. Allen left the Royal Military College, Duntroon, to become the first two full-time members of the academic staff of the College. Both of them gave magnificent service for a period of over twenty years, and have earned the gratitude and affection of all those who have been associated with the College. Mr. Haydon's work as a teacher of modern languages in the College was always marked by the highest degree of enthusiasm and efficiency, and his success in helping students to pass examinations was really outstanding. His place has been filled by the appointment to the newly created Chair of French of Dr. Derek Percival Scales. Professor Scales had a brilliant record as a graduate of the University of Sydney in both French and German. He was subsequently awarded a doctorate of the University of Paris, and for several years held a lectureship in French at the University of Birmingham.

At the beginning of the year Mr. B.S. Benjamin took up the position of temporary lecturer in Philosophy to replace Mr. A. Donagan who had been given two years' leave to study at Oxford. Mr. Benjamin was originally a graduate of the University of Melbourne, and had recently been awarded the degree of Bachelor of Philosophy by the University of Oxford. Mr. N.T. Ruth took up appointment at the same time as temporary lecturer in Economics to replace Mr. R.J. Cameron who had been granted two years study leave.

Annual Report.

Mr. Ruth graduated as Master of Arts in the University of New Zealand in 1950 with first class honours in Economics. In August, 1952, Mr. B.D. Beddie, who had been awarded a Rockefeller Fellowship, proceeded to the University of London on two years' study leave. His place was filled by the appointment to a temporary lectureship of Mr. C.L. Burns, Victorian Rhodes Scholar for 1949, graduate of Melbourne and Oxford. Mr. Burns had won the distinction at Oxford of being awarded a studentship at Nuffield College for post-graduate work.

Three other appointments of additional members of staff to begin duty in 1953 should be noted. Mr. Hans Bielenstein a graduate of the University of Stockholm, who had studied for 1½ years in Peking, and was a research fellow at the University of California, was appointed to the Chair of Oriental Languages to take charge of the new School. Mr. G.N. Seagrim, a graduate of the University of London and temporary lecturer at the University College, was appointed to the new lectureship in the Psychology department. Mr. R.F. Brissenden, a graduate of the University of Sydney and Senior Tutor in English at the University of Melbourne, was appointed to a temporary assistant lectureship in the English department. In all these appointments the College has been fortunate in obtaining people of first rate calibre.

In July, 1952, Mr. B.D. Cameron returned to the College after two years spent abroad studying in the Department of Applied Economics at the University of Cambridge. Mr. Cameron brought further distinction both to himself and to the College by being awarded his Doctorate of Philosophy for his thesis "The Determination of Production".

During the year, the College continued to develop its teaching in various directions. The number of graduate students enrolled in the College for Masters' degrees has continued to increase. In addition, the College also enrolled amongst its graduate students a Fulbright scholar from the United States, and a graduate from the University of Ceylon, studying in Australia under the Colombo Plan. The first undergraduate students were also accepted for the degree with honours in both Arts and Commerce in 1952. This has involved a wider range of teaching at a more advanced level, and should have beneficial effects in attracting full-time students to the College. The association of the College with the University of Melbourne continued to operate smoothly throughout the year. Frequent visits by members of staff of the College have enabled them to maintain satisfactory co-operation with their corresponding departments in Melbourne. In addition, the College has benefited by visits from members of the staff of the University of Melbourne in the course of the year. Mr. L. Goldberg, Senior Lecturer in Accountancy, visited the College for a week and met all the classes in this subject. In the English department an exchange of staff took place between Professor Hope of the College and Dr. Wayne Hayward from Melbourne, who took classes in drama, and also the seminar for Master of Arts Candidates. In many departments there has been close co-operation in the setting and marking of examination papers, and it is expected that this will continue in future.

During 1952 members of the staff continued their programmes of research, and some were able to embody results of this work in articles published in learned journals and periodicals. A list of work published during 1952 is attached to this report as Appendix A.

Annual Report.

4. PERMANENT BUILDINGS.

The Council renewed the request to the Department of the Interior for approval to engage an architect so that the planning of permanent buildings might be begun. The developments contemplated in the three year plan submitted to the Minister (See paragraph 2 of this Report) will be impossible unless the College has adequate buildings of its own. ✱

5. CURRICULUM

During 1952, lectures were given in the following subjects in the curriculum of the University of Melbourne:

Arts

Australian History; British History; English I; English II; English C; French I; French IA; French II; French III; German I; German II; International Relations; Modern History; Philosophy I; History of Philosophy; Political Philosophy; Political Science A; Political Science B; Political Science C; Psychology I; Psychology II; Pure Mathematics I; Russian I;

Economics and Commerce

Accountancy I; Accountancy IA; Accountancy IIB; Commercial Law I; Commercial Law II; Economic Geography I; Economic History I; Economics A; Economics B; Elementary Jurisprudence and Constitutional Law; Public Finance; Statistical Method.

Law

Introduction to Legal Method; Legal History; Principles of Contract; Private International Law; Public International Law; Tort.

Lectures were also given in the School of Diplomatic Studies in Patent Law subjects and in Chinese and Japanese.

6. PUBLIC LECTURES

On 7th May, 1952 Professor A.D. Hope, Professor of English delivered his Inaugural Lecture, entitled "The Study of English".

On 22nd September, 1952, B.R. Elliott, Esq., M.A., Lecturer in English at the University of Adelaide, delivered the Commonwealth Literary Fund Lecture, taking as his subject, "Marcus Clarke".

Both lectures were well attended.

✱ Since the period covered by this report the College's building needs have been made more urgent than ever by the destruction by fire on 11th April, 1953 of the greater part of its temporary premises in Melbourne Building. The College is now temporarily housed in what was formerly the Turner workmen's hostel and, while this has enabled the College's activities to be carried on without serious interruption, the erection of permanent buildings suited to the needs of a university college is an immediate necessity. The Council has gratefully adopted a proposal made by the Minister for the Interior that immediate consultations should be held with an architect of the Department of Works with a view to the siting, planning and erection of the first permanent buildings.

Annual Report.

7. ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT - 1951.

The Annual Commencement was held in the Albert Hall on Thursday, 27th March, 1952. The Occasional Address was given by the Vice-Chancellor of the University of Melbourne, Professor G.W. Paton, B.A., B.C.L., M.A. Degrees were conferred and diplomas awarded by the Chancellor of the University of Melbourne.

8. PUBLICATIONS

The College Calender, 1952, was published on 1st January, 1952, Four issues of the Canberra University College Gazette were published during the year.

9. HOSPITALITY.

The College has provided accommodation for meetings and for examinations during the past year for the following societies and bodies - Artists' Society of Canberra; Arts Council; Australasian Association of Psychology and Philosophy; Australian Library Seminar; Australian National University; Australian and New Zealand Association for the Advancement of Science; Canberra Art Club; Canberra Repertory Society; Commonwealth Institute of Accountants; C.S.I.R.O.; Department of Immigration; Economic Society; Fabian Society; Fellowship of Australian Writers; Institute of International Affairs; New Education Fellowship; Public Service Board; Student Christian Movement; University Association of Canberra; Women Graduates Association.

10. STUDENT MEMBERS

The total number of students enrolled in 1952 was 294, a decline of 46 from the previous year. The main factor in this decline, which was common to all Australian Universities in 1952, was the decreasing number of ex-service enrolments under the Commonwealth Reconstruction Training Scheme. At Canberra the abolition of the Diploma in Commerce may also have contributed.

11. DEGREES & DIPLOMAS

The following degrees were conferred and diplomas awarded by the Chancellor of the University of Melbourne at the Annual Commencement:

Bachelor of Arts - Ordinary Degree

Mary Grace Paterson Howard, Dip.Soc.Stud.
Barbara Deirdre Moir
Carol Mary Schneider
Neil Rupert Caffin, LL.B.
David Danvers Dunn, LL.B. W.A.

No applications were received for bursaries.

13. GUNGAHLIN

Gungahlin, the College's Hall of Residence, continued in operation with a Warden, Deputy Warden and fourteen students. All but one of the students were External Affairs Cadets and the College received a subsidy from the Department of External Affairs which enabled it to reduce the loss on the operation of the Hall.

14. FINANCE

The Statement of Receipts and Payments for the year 1952 and accounts covering trust moneys, duly audited by the Auditor General of the Commonwealth are attached to this report as Appendix B.

Annual Report

15. ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The Council expresses its gratitude to the University of Melbourne for the full co-operation so freely extended to the College. It also expresses appreciation of help given by the librarians and staffs of the National Library and the library of the Australian National University who have rendered such valuable services to the staff and students of the College. The Council also acknowledges with gratitude the co-operation and assistance which it has received from the Department of the Interior, the Department of External Affairs and the Commonwealth Office of Education.
